

1. Having Video Assisted Speech to Speech services saves money and time especially in emergencies.
2. Video Assisted Speech to Speech increases the independence of people who use it because they can do some everyday activities that require telephone use on their own.

I have two Friends who use AAC as their primary way to communicate.